

Young patient with hemophilia and advanced ankle arthritis. The infinity talus (lower half of the ankle joint as opposed to the tibia) made by Wright Medical is used because it remove less bone. That is particularly helpful in the future when it is time for a revision.

